INTRODUCTION.

This report of financial transactions for municipalities and counties is the seventeenth annual publication issued by the State Controller. The general public is showing an increased interest in the fiscal affairs of local and county governments as evidenced by the many requests for further information and comparative analyses as between cities and counties of similar population and assets.

The chief value of a publication of this character is to enable those interested in the financial affairs of governmental activities to make comparative studies of functional costs as between the different municipalities and counties in the state. In order to make legitimate comparisons, the Controller will endeavor to rearrange the information in the 1928 report so that the actual cost of government will be segregated in an understandable fashion. The outlays from bond moneys will be deducted and only bond redemption and interest included, otherwise a duplication of expenditures would be shown. This will involve additional care in the compilation of the data by the various city auditors. The county auditors, owing to the demands of the County Budget Act in 1927, should have no difficulty in making this slight variation in their future reports.

BONDED DEBT.

The bonded debt of the three governmental divisions of the state is $711,186,104.09 and continues to increase although there is a tendency toward a more conservative policy. In 1911 the outstanding municipal bonds represented 4 per cent of the value of nonoperative property which directly assumes the burden. In 1927 the outstanding bonds equalled 7 per cent of the nonoperative roll. Since 1911 the bonded debt has increased 403 per cent, while the property upon the nonoperative rolls that must be assessed for the retirement of bond issues, interest, etc., has increased 212 per cent. Receipts from taxes increased 342 per cent and receipts from licenses increased 92 per cent. The following table shows the steady increase of bonded indebtedness over a period of years.

MUNICIPALLY OWNED PUBLIC SERVICE ENTERPRISES.

The accounting systems of municipally owned public service enterprises are of a character that prevents the Controller from giving adequate information covering their operation. It is impossible to ascertain whether there is a loss or gain, as the statements furnished are, in the main, flow of cash. Each year shows a tendency on the part of municipalities to increase their activities in this direction, and the legislature should require proper accounting methods for the protection of the taxpayer public. The chief objection to privately owned public service corporations, that are now regulated by state agencies, is that the accounting systems employed by the corporations enable them to secure a higher rate from the regulative agency than would be justified if all of the facts were before them. In an endeavor to correct this situation, the Railroad Commission has compelled the utility corporations to adopt a uniform method that takes into account all of the factors affecting the cost of service. The taxpayer should have the same protection, and governmental agencies might well set an example by the adoption of sound accounting methods and thereby definitely dispose of the controversy regarding costs that now exists as between publicly and privately owned utilities.

POPULATION.

The population of the State of California is 5,398,457, an increase of 151,728 over 1926, according to the estimates of the State Controller. No single method of computing populations can be adapted to the requirements of California, since growth depends upon so many varied circumstances in different sections of the state. The population estimates set forth in the first table are based on the increase of nonoperative property values, and, although it should be borne in mind that they are purely estimates, they merit consideration.
