County tax levies for 1957-58 (exclusive of education and special district functions) were $527,773,134, an increase of some $65,111,311 over the previous year. The impact of increased valuations on the tax rates adopted by the counties was as varied as the differences in the individual rates. The only county with a decline in valuation maintained the same tax rate of the previous year. Another county with one of the largest percentage increase in valuation also had the largest percentage increase in the tax rate. Percentagewise, a third county with one of the smallest increases in valuations also had the largest decrease in the tax rate. Overall, 26 counties had increases, 24 had decreases and eight remained the same.
